

ASECO

Alliance of Social and Ecological Consumer Organisations

An open alliance for a sustainable future based on consumers guidance

Sustainable development is the only possible way for a future for our common society and all citizens. Sustainability concerns health, environment, care for resources, safety for food and other products and services. A socially sustainable coexistence around the world is also a basic necessity.

A sustainable future will not and can not be achieved without participation and involvement of consumers and their organisations. Therefore working together is essential.

We start in November 2004 with the aim of helping each other voluntarily with the large expertise we have in common no office in Brussels, no membership fees, no employees working together in a virtual network to express promptly what we consumers want, think and demand from decision makers and authorities, business and suppliers of goods and services

All organisations that are committed to the common efforts for a better future and a sustainable world can apply for admission
